Robert H. Harcourt : Elementary Forge Practice a Text-Book for Technical and Vocational Schools (Classic Reprint) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Elementary Forge Practice a Text-Book for Technical and Vocational Schools (Classic Reprint):

While it is realized that a comprehensive knowledge of forge practice can be gained only thru contact with a commercial shop doing a wide variety of work, it is at the same time believed that an understanding of fundamental principles may be secured thru a carefully planned and conducted course of instruction in a technical school. This book is designed to assist the student in grasping fundamental principles. To this end a series of projects involving fundamental operations has been devised. It may be unnecessary for some students to complete the entire set. Some of the earlier projects and occasionally others may be omitted if the student has had previous practice or if he shows great facility. On the other hand it will be readily seen that there is a logical order in the series and that some projects must be mastered before others are undertaken. The whole set may require a longer time than is allotted to the subject in the average manual training course. In such case the instructor may easily select such work as will meet the peculiar conditions. The criticism given an earlier edition by the technical press, and the reception by teachers of forge and machine-shop practice, have shown the need for a text-book of this type. The author wishes to express his appreciation of the assistance rendered by Professor E. P. Lesley of Leland Stanford Junior University, Mr. W. L. Rifenberick, and Mr. H. P. Miller, Jr., in the preparation of this book. R. H. HARCOURT. Stanford University, November, (Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and don't occur in the book.)
