The designs are beautiful and would enhance dollhouses by giving them something personal that other houses don't have. The directions are very clear as are the graphs. It includes excellent ideas.My only concerns:1. I did lot's of needle work in the 1980's but am now 64 and my vision is not good. However, the author carefully explains how to adapt her designs so the stitches don't have to be so small.2. I think the book was written by someone living in England and some of the kinds of materials suggested were names not familiar to me. It could be that the materials are now in American needlework shops or possibly that the shop owners could tell me a similar product.Very well written. I have recently returned from a dollhouse show where the tiny pillows shown sell for $50-$100.0 of 0 people found the Explanations are very clear--too bad the author doesn't live in the United States- I'd have fun taking a class from her. Marty Beljean3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Easy and Beautiful embroidery projectsBy MariotaThis book is wonderful. It has fantastic color photos of the designs and easy step-by-step instructions. A novice would be able to follow the instructions but the projects do not look beginner. You will be very proud to have made these beautiful items to accent your dollhouse.

With this selection of step-by-step embroidered projects in 1/12 scale, you can create cushions, bell pulls, samplers, firescreens and much more for the dolls' house of any style or period. Tudor, Georgian, Regency, Victorian and Arts and Crafts styles are covered, ensuring authentic-looking accessories for every room. Full colour charts, stitching and making-up instructions are included for each project, plus a photograph of the finished object. Many of the projects have alternative designs or colourways, giving even more project choice.

About the AuthorSue Hawkins began her career restoring seventeenth-century English embroidery. She now designs for and runs her own successful kit manufacturing company, Needleworks. Sue teaches embroidery workshops around the country, many on behalf of the Cross Stitch Guild, of which she is technical director. This is her fifth book with David Charles, including Carpets Rugs for this series. Sue lives in Cheltenham, Gloucestershire.
