Just because theyre small doesnt mean they cant live large. These terrific projects will have any doll family looking its best, from a sweet cream dress for Mom to trousers and jacket for Dad, pleated skirts for the teen, and a charming sailor suit for baby. There are instructions for a dozen outfits in all, along with patterns for linens for miniature tables, bedrooms, and bath. With 100 color photographs and tips for choosing supplies, no doll has to wear off the toy rack fashions anymore.

About the AuthorCatriona Hall studied Architecture for several years, then trained as a teacher and moved to Tasmania in 1975. She began making toys and dolls in 1976 and by 1979 had her first exhibition. Catriona started collecting dolls' house miniatures in 1979 and started to make dolls' house people at the same time, it took 15 years for them to take over completely. Since that time she has exhibited work in USA, UK (Birmingham) and Australia). She is represented in collections in UK, USA, Europe and Australia
