The inspiring projects use materials almost all of us have lying around the house which makes it perfect for those rainy days. My daughter has always loved digging through the recycle bin to make things but these projects add a tremendous amount of style to her ideas. The best part is these designs keep the kids entertained long after they've been made too. The well written instructions are easy to follow with lots of beautiful pictures of the process and finished pieces. I can see the whole family involved or several friends working together on these designs. One of the really nice treats to this book is the library of paper artists included in the back of the book. My daughter loved seeing what she could aspire to be when she grows up and I loved learning about artists I didn't know about. Definitely make room on your shelf for this book! 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Fun Crafts For

KidsBy suzanneI'm so excited...I just received my copy of "The Paper Playhouse"! As I quickly thumb through the pages, I can see that it's informative, creative and just plain fun. I love that the projects are unique and not the usual run of the mill craft stuff. In each chapter, the author, clearly explains the materials needed. Most are inexpensive things found around the house. The pictures that give step-by-step directions are so helpful. To me a picture is worth a thousand words and the pictures in this book are terrific. The kids look like they are having a blast!! This special book is a must for anyone who works with children, has children or like me, grandchildren.10 of 10 people found the following review helpful. Imaginative Creative FunBy Del Pinto[[VIDEOID:fca5fc59923b2ebe4e11e8c9192ab18c]] The Paper Playhouse: Awesome Art Projects For Kids Using Paper, Boxes, and Books by Katrina Rodabaugh Flip Book Review.The book itself it a wonderful collection of paper crafting projects made from recycled materials that are suitable for adults and kids to do together.These kid projects range from simple paper crowns to more complex (airstream travel trailer) projects that require a little help from an adult. They are cute and fun to do. I would recommend this book for homeschoolers, rainy day fun, classroom projects, and scouts. The projects are a wonderful way to utilize both recycled and new paper products in fun creative ways. Artist Katrina Rodabaugh shares her artistic training and up-cycling sensibility in this unique and inspired book, The Paper Playhouse. With simple techniques including sculpture, printmaking, bookbinding, collage, and even ideas for public art, families work through step-by-step instructions while using imagination and budding aesthetics. This book goes beyond the typical paper craft project to include contemporary design references like Mid-Century Modern dollhouses, VW buses, paper monsters, costumes and masks, and the classic lemonade stand--all made with unique style and flair! Focused around surprising and easily accessibly materials like shipping boxes, shoeboxes, junk mail envelopes, newspapers, maps, found books, and other paper ephemera, and with stunning photography by Leslie Sophia Lindell, The Paper Playhouse has 22 projects aimed at inspiring children to create amazing paper crafts. A beautiful gallery provides further project inspirations from Lisa Congdon, Maya Donenfeld, Heather Smith Jones, Courtney Cerutti, Gracia Haby, Mati Rose McDonough, and many more!

"Created by the mother of a toddler who lives in a small apartment, Katrina Rodabaugh assures us that there's a variety of projects, for toddlers and older, possible even if you're working on the kitchen table with only material from your recycling bin. Better yet, her book includes patterns that can be used with felt, wood and other materials. The author also has some practical suggestions for storing such materials: for example, by folding smaller boxes flat and tucking them and saved paper in a shallow box under the bed.The projects range from very simple--star wands for your magician or princess's costume--to elaborate, like the miniature Airstream trailer and VW bus, and the fold-up playhouse and two-story dollhouse.Overall, what we at News for Parents like most is the emphasis on re-using materials, whether they are security envelopes, cereal boxes, advertising mail or packing cartons, and the fact that most of these projects can be made simple or sophisticated. - News for Parents
